More of these types of incidents. Grave shift is experiencing high volumes of robberies, vandalisms, and thefts. I'm wondering if it's time building security personnel had more of a awareness/presence along with our folks on the exterior? Too difficult to do? Not sure a new tactic but it's been a wild few weeks. Later footbeat?

Subject: 1/16/16 Graveyard Update

Good Morning Everyone,

Today's graveyard shift was calm until the bars closed. We had multiple service calls all after 2:00 AM. There was a fight inside Joe's Pizza but the subjects left before we arrived. There was an attempted theft at Circle K; when we arrived the subject put the items on the floor. At Spring Time in New York a man was trespassing, he later relocated when we arrived. At 5:44 AM Starbucks called for multiple people sitting inside without purchasing anything. All the subjects later relocated when we arrived. We were flagged down by a business owner stating that he witnessed guys vandalizing business on 7th street in between Spring and Broadway but the subjects were already out of our district. No further incidents to report.

Best Regards,
Marques Barron
